Assuring Company Readiness for ISO Certification

The ISO arena identifies many standards where a company can be aligned, including ISO 9001:2008 (the base ISO international standard), and (for example) in the automotive, aerospace, environmental, medical device, security, integrated systems, and other disciplines.

This presentation will take the user through the probable / more than likely steps that a company should consider assuring and building confidence in having a third-party registrar evaluate a company for certification acceptance.

4 hours of instruction.
