Jurisdiction: Florida SouthWestern State College's jurisdiction over student conduct issues covers conduct that occurs on College premises, including campus housing, at College-related activities/events, and all locations where a College course, program or activity is being conducted, including out of state locations such as study abroad programs and off campus conferences and student travel. The College also reserves the right to impose discipline based on off-campus conduct and may be pursued under the code if the off-campus conduct is specifically prohibited by law or the Student Code of Conduct has adverse effects on the campus or presents a danger to the health, safety or welfare of the College community.

Each student and student organization shall be responsible for their conduct from the time of application for admission through the actual awarding of a degree, even though conduct may occur before classes begin or after classes end for the term, as well as during the academic year and during periods between terms of eligible enrollment. The Student Code of Conduct shall apply to a student's conduct even if the student withdraws from school while a disciplinary matter is pending.

All allegations of violations of the student code of conduct must be reported and charged within six (6) months of the date that the alleged violation occurred except in cases which are being investigated by the Title IX office. For a good cause, and related only to violations not being investigated by the Title IX office, this limit may be waived in writing by the Vice Provost for Student Affairs.

- B. Violation of Local, State, Federal Law or laws of other national jurisdictions: Student Code of Conduct proceedings may be instituted based upon a student's or student organization's alleged conduct that, if committed, could violate criminal law or the Student Code of Conduct without regard to the pendency of civil or criminal litigation. Proceedings under the Student Code of Conduct may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with, or following civil or criminal proceedings. Student Code of Conduct proceedings may also be instituted based upon a student's or student organization's alleged conduct that, if committed, could violate other College policies, College procedures, written agreements, and this Code of Conduct.

Off-campus conduct: The College may take disciplinary action against a student or student organization for violations committed off-campus where one of the following applies:

IV. Provisions for Students and Student Organizations

Procedural fairness is basic to the proper enforcement of all College regulations. Accordingly, no disciplinary action shall be initiated or sanction imposed against a student until the student has been notified in writing of the complaints against him or her, the student has been informed of his or her rights under this Code, and the student has been given the opportunity to be heard. The College is not required to postpone student conduct proceedings pending the outcome of any outside criminal or civil case.

The following provisions shall be explained to each Student during the Initial Review meeting and prior to the start of any conduct hearing:

- A. Students will receive a fair and impartial hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Student Code of Conduct.

- B. Students and student organizations have the right to a presumption that no violation occurred. The institution has the burden to prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that a violation has taken place. Preponderance of the evidence means that the information presented supports the finding that it is more likely than not that the violation of the code of conduct was committed by the student or student organization.
- C. Students will be provided with a written notice of disciplinary hearing, at least 7 business days prior to the proceeding. This notification will include the date, time and location of the hearing, the alleged violations against him or her and the alleged misconduct upon which the charge is based.

At least 5 business days prior to the hearing, the accused student or student organization will be provided a list of witnesses who have provided, or will provide, information against the student or student organization and all known information related to the case including all inculpatory or exculpatory information.
- E. Students may inspect any available information presented in support of the charges during the Initial Review meeting and during the hearing. The student may take notes from the information to be used in the hearing.
- F. Students may decline to make statements in response to the allegations. Declining to make a statement shall not be construed as an admission of responsibility.
- G. Students may be assisted by an advisor, advocate or legal representative of their choice, at their own expense. This individual may directly participate in all aspects of the hearing including the presentation of relevant information and questioning of witnesses. It is the student's responsibility to make appropriate arrangements for the advisor, advocate or legal representative to attend the scheduled hearing time.
- H. At the determined time, the Charged student(s) may hear and question adverse witnesses who testify at the hearing. In the cases of sexual misconduct or abuse, see information in the FSW Title IX Reporting and Resolution Process.
- I. The student or student organization has the right to appeal the final decision of the hearing officer, or any committee or panel, directly to the vice provost of student affairs, or any other senior administrator designated by the code of conduct, who must hear the appeal and render a final decision. The vice provost of student affairs or person designated by the code of conduct to hear the appeal may not have directly participated in any other proceeding related to the charged violation.

Academic dishonesty and violations affecting the health, safety and well-being of the community are deemed the most severe and may result, upon the first violation, in a negative notation being placed on a transcript, suspension, or expulsion.
