

Faculty:

As I mentioned in my email on Friday, I am updating everyone on revisions to the academic calendar for the remainder of the fall 2017 semester. For full-term and mini-B courses, December 2-8 is now designated for additional instructional time. Faculty will determine plans for final assessments in classes during regularly scheduled class time. If you desire an exam that extends beyond a regular class period, let your department chair and dean know and they will work with you to accommodate. In the School of Health Professions those courses that are clock hour required, this extension should accommodate the hours you need. Faculty should use the best blended model of face-to-face and virtual instruction to meet course competencies. Please work with your colleagues, department chairs, and deans and use your professional judgment to complete the work for this semester.

For Mini-A, the term timeframe has been extended to accommodate time missed:

Last day to withdraw from mini-A courses is 9/27/17

Last day of classes for mini-A is 10/16/17.

Final Exams for mini-A should be given by 10/16/17.

Final Grades are due for mini-A by NOON on 10/18/17

The last day to replace an "I" grade from the previous semester is extended to 9/25/17.

Students who have hurricane related hardships pertaining to courses should be directed to their academic advisor to discuss their options and available support services. It is important that we uphold the academic integrity of all programs and courses at FSW; with this in mind, use your best professional judgment in working with students to achieve successful course completion. If you have questions or need further clarification, please contact your department chair and / or academic dean. Thank you all for patience and understanding as we prepare to resume the fall 2017 semester.

One final note, tomorrow (9/19/17) in the dining area on each location there will be free coffee for faculty & staff courtesy of Auxiliary Services and FSI.
