

Course Development Stipend: Latin American and Caribbean Curriculum

Through a partnership with Florida International University's (FIU) Kimberly Green Latin American and Caribbean Center, FSW faculty and teaching administrators have the opportunity to develop courses infused with Latin American and Caribbean Content, with the aim of adding more of these courses to the Florida Statewide Course Numbering System.

FIU will offer a $750 stipend, which can be used for teaching materials, teaching-related travel and learning that support the course objectives.

Faculty whose proposals were selected for funding must submit course syllabi for review by the Curriculum Committee by March 4, 2022. All other course materials will be due by August 15, 2022 (to allow time for research, assignment/assessment development, and any related travel).

Faculty Name

School

E-mail

Office Phone:

Draft Course Description for syllabus.

Draft list of objectives.

Short narrative to show how this course fills a gap in the existing Florida Statewide Course offerings (Review current offerings in your discipline at <https://flscns.fldoe.org/>)

Abbreviated Curriculum Vitae (summary of relevant professional achievements, highlight relevant education, research experience, presentations or publications that demonstrate expertise as related to the course content)

Short narrative to explain how the funds can support the course development.

Email to Dr. Joseph F. van Gaalen, Asst. VP, Inst. Research, Assessment, & Effectiveness by January 15, 2021.