ITALY Tuscania

SPC 2608: INTRODUCTION
TO PUBLIC SPEAKING

Develop your voice in one of Italy's most inspiring settings. This faculty-led study abroad program in Tuscania combines Introduction to Public Speaking with immersive cultural experiences that bring communication to life. Students will build confidence and refine presentation skills through real-world speaking opportunities in historic piazzas, local markets, and community spaces, while exploring how culture, audience, and place shape effective communication. With excursions to Rome and the surrounding region, hands-on projects connected to Italian culture and agriculture coursework, this program offers a transformative experience that blends academic growth, global awareness, and personal confidence.
