

Travel Abroad with FSW to the Galapagos Islands!

FSW students can travel to the Galapagos with enrollment in the course:

Galapagos Island Ecology Research
OCB 2910

Dates:

Course: Summer A, 2019

Trip: May 19-30, 2019

Estimated Student Cost: $1,850

(includes airfare, accommodations, excursions, and some meals)

The Galapagos Islands offer the perfect living laboratory for exploration, learning, and adventure. From the waters teeming with species found only here, to the highlands inhabited by giant tortoises, you'll work to understand and protect this fragile ecosystem. After your fieldwork is complete, you'll head out on a series of day trips, where you'll snorkel, hike, and watch for wildlife ranging from blue-footed boobies to land and marine iguanas to Darwin's famous finches.
