

The Florida Virtual Campus (formerly known as FACTS.org) is an online academic support system for Florida's students. Middle and high school students can still:

- Explore career and academic options
- Access high school transcript information
- Evaluate courses completed against the requirements for graduation, college and career readiness, and Bright Futures Scholarships
- Search college and university profiles and degree offerings
- See requirements for admission and transferring
- Find college- and university-level distance learning courses
- Search library offerings
- Apply online for admission and financial aid
- And so much more!

TRANSITION NEWS FOR COUNSELORS & EDUCATORS

- Effective July 1, 2012, FACTS.org became part of the Florida Virtual Campus (FLVC).
- The www.facts.org address now re-directs visitors to www.flvc.org. The re-direct will be in place for approximately one year. If you have the FACTS.org URL listed in your materials or on your school website, please update it with www.flvc.org. New FLVC logos can be found at www.flvc.org> About FLVC> FLVC Logo.
- The FLVC student login ID and password are the same as those previously used to access information on FACTS.org. If students already have an account, they are all set! Otherwise, they can create their own account. FLVC will not create student accounts as FACTS did in the past.
- The ePersonal Education Planner (ePEP), an interactive high school planner that guided students through course selection based on career and academic goals, was discontinued on the FLVC website. If students previously created an ePEP, they may still access it temporarily (through January 2013) by going to FLVC My Records> High School Students> ePersonal Education Planner (ePEP). However, changes cannot be made.
- Check out the new College & Career Planner found under My Records> High School Students> College & Career Planner. The Planner contains a lot of career and education planning information relevant to middle and high school students, and it also includes a section for course planning (ID and password not required).
- The Student Activity System, a management system for counselors and educators, was discontinued on the FLVC website. Counselors cannot access student records or account login information on www.flvc.org.
- We are currently working to develop new informational and training materials for FLVC. We will share that information with you as it becomes available.
- If you have any questions, please contact the Help Desk at user-help@flvc.org.
